A MONUMENT OF HATE

HICH SENATOR CALL SAYS

VOLUME XIV

D bate Continued on the Bill to Reveal the Lav oriminating Against Ex-Confeders es as Can-didates for Office in the Army-Speech by Mr. Call-Mr. Edmunds's Rebuff.

WASHINGTON, May 1 .- In the senate M Edmunds, from the committee on the judi ciary, made an oral report upon the message of the president touching the so-called cow boy disturbances in Arizona, and suggesting certain enabling logislation regarding the use of the army as a posse commitatus. He said he had been instructed to say that in the opinion of the committee there was no necessity for further legislation, and that the president for further legislation, and that the president has ample power to put down the lawlessness referred to under the existing laws.

The bill to repeal discrimination against the appointment of ex-confederates in the same of the United States come up on the calendar, and a division upon the pending question to refer to the committee on judiciary resulted in yeas 21, nays 19. The yeas and nays were ordered, and Mr. Call took the floor. He antagonized the position of Mr. Edmunds in the debate. He said that the gentleman had declared that he wanted to see a perpetual monument on the statute book to mark a distinction between the right and wrong sides of the rebellion. He (Mr. Call) welld erect no monument from New Jersey as he throws twen the right and wrong sides of the rebellion. He (Mr. Call) would erect no monument for the purpose of putting to shame a people whose conscientious convictions led them into strife. He wanted no monument of legislative proscription. The only monument which he should peopletuate was one of union and fracturity. Mr. George-poke of the good effect of a unanimous vette to pass the bill, and said he regretted that the opposite side secured indisposed to allow this. He referred to the unquestioned sepremacy of the national exitherity throughout the country, and to the readiness with which its behasts were complied with in the south. He said the members of the military committee the supreme court of that the supreme court of that aid the members of the military committee which recommended the bill vere nearly all ble, gallance and trusted leaders in one of two tending armies, and it would be sual for the senate to ignore recommendation of a committee to se judgement it was accommend to deser such matters. THE CHALMERS CONTEST.

What the Debele Demonstrated and How, It Pro-Special Correspondence of I he Constitution. Washington, April 29.—If it had not been known before, the debate on the Lynch-Chal-mers contest would have demonstrated the superiority of the democrats in real ability over their opponents in the house. Calkins and Robeson led the other side—the latter a big red bag of wind and the former a light politician of the hallelujah kfkd. In the hands of Tucker, Carlisle and Hammond both were small. The only comfort either could were small. The only comfort either could find was in the applause of a gallery full of colored clacquers who had come to see Lynch get his seat. Carlisle's powerful argument in conclusion was not answered at all. Tucken's and the interpretation of it by the supreme court of that state he thought Chalmers and ded to his seat. But, he said, many true things had been said in the "eloquent speech" of the contestant relative to the election system of the south. There are fraceds and the domination of the organized democracy accounts for their existence. Mr. Speer then awowed himself a champion of a free ballot and a fair count and said his presence on the thor, representing the targest white-voting district in Georgia, was a piedge that the people of that state were seeing the error of their way and meant to do better. This was about the substance of the speech so far as it had any substance.

Mr. Spear intimated that his election was a triumph of the free ballot, and that while the rest of the state languishes under the depression of democratic supremacy; it may be pression of democratic supremacy it may be redeemed by such men as bimself until it bein reference to the contested elections seems to be fixed. None of the rest of them will be to be fixed. None of the rest of them will be taken up immediately, but the committee's reports in layor of ousling the other democrats will be firmly supported by the full strength of the party. The democrats are indignant, but they have caucused on the question and leacused the conclusion that they cannot afford 40 fillibuster. Such a proceeding in a contested election case is uprefignant, but they have caucused on the question and reacted the conclusion that they cannot affort to filiuster. Such a proceeding in a contested election case is unpercedented in the history of the house, though there was probably never such provocation to it as now exists. THE TARIFF COMMISSION BILL will be brought up again next week. The manuscript outteries will be re-opened, and most of the chairs will enjoy a vacation. The bill will pass While it is not a party measure, most of the democrats will vote against it, many of them on the ground taken by General Cook, that it is a device for delay on the part of the high tariff men and not a sincere effort to reach a just revision. The entire Georgia delegation, except Mr. Speer, oppose the bill. In the senate Governor Brown spoke in favor of it. After this will come more election cases with the usual supply of fuss and frenzy. his accepting a retainer from the Peruvian company.

MEETING WITH SHIPHEED.

"He was introduced to Shipherd in New York, as he (witness) was passing through on his way to New Hampshire. Later, near the middle of July, he saw Shipherd again in New York, and had a long conference with him, in which Shipherd expressed strong sympathy with Peru, and explained that his company was calculated to afford an opportunity to Peru to settle her difficulties and avoid the loss of territory. Witness is istened to a long account from Shipherd of the plans of the company, and promised his cerdial sympathy and aid. Mr. Shipherd spoke of offering a retainer, which the witness at that time declined. Some time in August Shipherd wrote offering witness as a retainer stock in the company. Witness replied that he preferred a retainer in money, if he took ny. Shortly after he (Shipherd) sent witn ess some scrip, which he subsequently returned for the reasons which he subsequently returned for the reasons which he set forth at the time in a letter. Witness then read a letter in which, while expressing his hearty sympathy with Peru and the Peruvian company in its desire to save her from dismemberment, he found that events were taking a turn which rendered it highly probable that the subject would become one for congressional action, and, inview of his distinct stipul tion in deciding to take the retainer that he should return it at any time under such contingencies, he therefore returned the scrip, and assured Shipherd that his sympathy was still strongly with the

The letter to ex-Senator Eaton bore date of Nov. 26, 1881. The letter says: "The Shipherd management of the affairs of the Peruvian company seems to be tending so much in a direction towards requiring congressional action, that I have felt it my duty to retire from my connection as counsel, and I have returned my retainer." In further allusion to the company it says: "In fact, I have not received snything of value from it," and again, "I should be sorry if this opportunity to help both North and South America should be lost by a failure on the part of our government to maintain a mild yet firm policy." Witness then explained his view of what this policy had been, and added: "So policy." Witness then explained his view of what this policy had been, and added: "So far as I know the affair of Shipherd had no

THE INTERVIEWS WITH BLAIPE.

Witness then alluded to the interviews with Secretary Blaine, which took place on the 25th and 26th of July, and added: 'I have no desire to go over in detail what occurred at those interviews, unless it be the wish of the committee that I shall do so. I desire to state that I never heard Shipheard make any mention in the presence of Blaine, or on any other occasion, in my presence, of his having made an offer to Minister Hurlbut of $250,000 of stock in the Peruvian company neither did I ever have any correspondence with I ever have any correspondence with Minister Huribut on the subject of the Peru-vian company." Witness had received a let-ter from Huribut, but never answered it. In the letter Mr. Hurbut mentioned having received many communications from Shipherd, and said he could not make him (Shipherd) understand that he (Hurlbut) could not act in the matter except on instructions from the state department.

SHIPHERD'S WALKER BLAINE LETTER.

Special Dispatch to The Constitution. Witness first saw the long letter of Shipherd Witness hirst saw the long texter of only acta to Walker Blaine, when he saw it in the printed report of Shipherd's examination be-fore the committee. He had, however, been requested by Secretary Blaine to inform Shipherd that he (Blaine) did not wish him Shipherd to hold any correspondence with any subordinates of the state department, and this desire he had verbally conveyed to Shipherd. Withese knew nothing of the Credit Industrial or their Shipherd. Witness knew nothing of the Credit Industrial or their contract with Calderon. In relation to his (Blaine's) letter to Shipherd, in which to his (Biaine's) letter to Shipherd, in which e says: "You should act as though American ships of war were on way." Witness believed that our government ought to consider the kidnapping of Calderon a breach of good faith towards this country, and while he did not at that time entertain the slightest apprehension of any war best apprehension of any war did not at that time entertain the slightest apprehension of any war between the United States and a little nation of less than two milition people, however plucky they might be, he had thought it most likely that American ships of war would be sent to South American ships of war would be sent to South American waters, as English ships had already been. It had been mainly due to the efforts of Minister Hurbut, in pursuance of his instructions, that Calderon had been enabled to exercise the authority that he had done, and he (witness) looked upon his forcible abduction as a measure which might be undone by a little firmness on the part of our government.

He understood that General Grant, without any pecuniary interest whatever in the Peru-any pecuniary interest whatever in the Peruvian company, was strongly in favor of rendering such sympathy and aid to Peru as would assist in giving her a chance before permitting her dismemberment. As for himself, witness was more interested in the true policy of our counmore interested in the true policy of our country than in the Salpherd company or any other company. He could not believe in a foreign policy of debasement, and whatever others had thought of the Shipherd company, there were those shipherd company, there were those who believed in its possibilities to play no unimportant part in the settlement of the South American situation. It was unnecessary to rehearse the important part in the affairs of nations that had before now been affairs of nations that had before now been played by private corporations which, in their inception, had offered nothing more tangible to the general view than the Peruvian company. He (witness) had understood from Shipherd that the company was abundantly backed with capital, and proposed to afford to Peru an opportunity to extricate herself from her financial difficulties and avoid the dismemberment of her territory. To this extent, he (witness) had given his sympathies and aid as counsel to the company. Adand aid as counsel to the company.

A FIGHT AT THE GRAVE. The Escape of a Train Robber-The North Carolina

PLAINFIELD, N. J., May 1 .- At the William street cemetery yesterday two sisters fought a bitched battle over their mother. The mothr and all the family but one daughter were Catholics. When the mother died the Catho-lic children were unable to bear the funeral expenses, and the Protestant daughter agreed o bury the mother, and was about to do so when the procession was interrupted at the cemetery gates by the woman's Catholic chil-dren, four in number, all grown men and women, who threatened violence if the mothwomen, who threatened violence it the mother was interred in the Protestant burial ground. Finally, by the aid of the police, the interment was completed, but the violent demon strations by the Catholic children of the dead woman and their sympathizers amounted to a riot, and an attempt was made to kill the Protestant dampher. The Extent and Growth of Georgia Guldmining— Important Case in Lincolnton Cours—Events in Elberton—Dawson's Militia—A West Point Conflagration—All Over the State.

DARLONEGA, April 28. -Gold has been mined in this state fifty years, and yet comparatively few persons are aware of the extensive nature of our auriferious deposits. It is probably no less surprising, that of the twenty millions of money owned and controlled by Atlanta, not will receive the attention and enlist the capi-

A visit at this season of the year is more than usually pleasant, and certainly no description, however graphic, can adequately convey the attractions of the mining and mountainous section.

The drive from Gainesville to Dahlonega is usually made in five hours. The route lies through a very undulating and picturesque country, and as you round a curve, a mile away, Dahlonega is seen nestled in the bosom of the hills and in the very shadow of the liber ridge.

of the hills and in the very shadow of the blue ridge.

The sight witnessed just before sunset is grandly beautiful. The long, lengthening shadows of the mountains falling in waves of different shades, broken here and there by a gleam of sunlight, form a picture of rare beauty and grandeur. But it is our intention to speak of the mining interests rather than of the scenery, believing the former to be of more interest to the general reader.

We first visited the Keystone mine, on the Chestatee river. This is a deposit mine, the

We first visited the Keystone mine, on the Chestatee river. This is a deposit mine, the gold being washed from the old river bed, over which the stream flowed probably five hundred years ago. In places this river gravel is found twenty to thirty feet beneath the soil, while at another place the ancient bed of the river is several hundred yards away, and from one to two hundred feet higher than the present level. This river gravel bears gold wherever found, and we learn that the managers of the Keystone property have saved as much as $250 per week, with the labor of only two or three men.

We next visited the Vacuum Dredge of the Georgia river mining company. We found the boat at work a mile below the Keystone mine, and about four miles south of Dahlonega.

Our party, numbering about ten, crossed in a bateau to the middle of the river, and were soon on board the boat. We were cordially welcomed by Captain Noble, the superintendent, who explained the 'operation of the dredge. The working principle is atmospheric pressure. The principal parts of the machinery are a vacuum chamber and an 18-inch draught pipe, which extends from the chamber into the bed of the stream. When a "lift" is made the vacuum chamber and pipe are charged with steam; this is easily condensed, the result is a vacuum is created, and the sand, gravel, etc., rushes up the pipe with great force and in large quantity. It is aston ishing to see how rapidly and with what ease the bed of the river is raised on deck of the boat. The gravel is washed down a sluice which runs along the center of the boat and the gold saved in the ordinary way, by means of quicksilver riffles, blankets, etc. The dredge works day and night, and lifts, in 24 hours, from 200 to 300 tons, at a cost of only hours, from 200 to 300 tons, at a cost of only $12 to $15. The work is effective, for pins, shot, fine gold and even rocks weighing one hundred pounds are brought up. The yield of gold is very gratifying, and we were informed that the boat is making money. As much as $5 to $6 in gold has been saved in a single lift, and as the river is known to be rich, the dredge is liable any day to strike a "pot hole" or "streak" that may yield $500 or $1,000. The prospective value of the machine is great, and we may from 200 to 300 tons, at a cost of only that may yield $500 or $1,000. The prospective value of the machine is great, and we may confidentially look for greater developments in river dredging.

MINING NEWS.

From the Dahlonega Mountain Signal.

The refreshing spring showers have enlivened and pushed forward not only the vegetation of the country, and made happy the industrious farmer, but the miner is more vigorous in his efforts to extract from vigorous in his efforts to extract from the ground the hidden treasure that awaits him. In visiting the different mines we find everything in good shape, and from all accounts and appearances, the yield is as much as usual. At present there isn't a suf-ficient amount of labor to do the mines justice; this is owing to those who have gone home to plant their crops. There is labor for at least one hundred men more than we have This lack will last only for a few days. O last Saturday at the Lockhart, work was conmenced in cutting the canal leading from Yahoola river to the new steam mill. When this, and all connected with it, is complete this, and all connected with it, is complete, all the machinery will run by water power. The little water mill here, which was being repaired last week, began to crush ore again on the first of this week. At the Singleton they are sinking a shaft on the recently discovered vein. It is their intention to work it below water level, or as deep as it continues anything like as rich as at present. The Bast cut is being extended northeast back towards the Findley mine. The ore at this end is as good as in the southnortheast back towards the Findley Mine.
The ore at this end is as good as in the southwest end. At the Ivey, the deposit below the Martin cut is paying well. The clean up last week was better than usual. Everything here is moving along splendidly. The Barlow is one of those mines that work every day with good results. Captain Huff is going to begin at the lower end of the cut and take up a new through on the belt. Work is going on smoothly at the Columbia. The mill will be ready for action before the first of June. Satisfactory prospecting has been done on the different leads. The last developments were on the upper or principal belt, which proves to be about 30 feet in width, containing quite a number of veins that prospect well. This belt is very soft, and will be easily mined. The superintendent is satisfied that the ore will pay. We have just seen a telephonic message from Mr. H. B. Smith, dated April 24th, 1882, which states that a new and astonishing discovery states that a new and astonishing discovery of gold has been made on the Taylor creek property, about three miles nearly east of Dawsonville, in the county of Dawson.

rmuda Grass Pastures—Only Good Country Cows Improved on the Farm-How They are Selected-Feeding the Herd.

From the Athens Banner-Watchman. Recently, in company with several friends, we paid a long-promised visit to Mr. Dock Dorsey, and although we found our genial friend on crutches, he managed to hop around and show us over his premises. A few years ago this gentleman purchased a part of the old Carr place, near the Georgia depot, for the purpose of establishing a dairy farm-an instiution then unknown to Athens. The farm selected was nothing but a succession of red hills and gullies-the last locality we would select for this purpose. The first thing Mr. Dorsey did was to erect a neat cottage and gather around him a few first-class country cows. His land was all unclosed, and of course he had to begin on a small scale, and course he had to begin on a small scale, and improve by degrees. His success from the first was assured. He found customers for all his milk, at remunerative prices, and gradually built up a splendid business. At the present time he owns 150 acres of land—either cleared of well set in Bermuda grass for pasturage—and has the finest lot of cows we have seen in a long. the finest lot of cows we have seen in a long time. His cattle are kept stabled in bad weather, and every care given them. He purchases only good country cows-paying for same from $20 to $50—and by liberal feeding brings them up to their best. He don't believe much in imported stock, although he has a full-blooded Ayershire bull, by which he improves his breed. A few days after a calf is dopped, Mr. Dorsey sells it to a butcher, so as to secure all the milk for market, except a few very choice ones that he raises. He has now ten young calves thus turned out. "How do you select your cows?" we in-Entirely by their build. You must not "Entirely by their build. "Do you milk yourself?"

"Do you milk yourself?"

"Oh, yes; I have several hands employed for the purpose, but can milk three cows to any one's two I ever saw. I always begin milking my cows before the calf is born, as this keeps down all inflammation in the bag."

"Upon what do you feed this large herd?"

"Well, on all sorts of food. My bran bill averages $150 a month, besides the hay and other roughness. I boil all the slops, as food goes much further when cooked and the cattle thrive better, too. Then I plant about five acres in vegetables for them, besides but for the good I can do the country can do me. My round for my cattle, as it keeps them healthy and makes the milk richer." The Ram Didn't Bluff but the Man Did.

In the Berrien county, Ga., News, Dan Henderson had a pet ram. Everyone Dan Henderson had a pet ram. Everyone knows, especially stock men, that a ram is the greatest pest of all pets. "Nas" Henderson resides with Dan, but we are not saying that "Nas" had anything to do with the ram. However, the ram has been committing many depredations of late, such as butting the bark off the fruit trees, butting down the fencing, etc. In order to place the ram at some disadvantage in carrying on his mischief, it was decided to put him on the outside. This did not meet the approval of his ramship, and after being worried for some time, decided to end the matter vi et armis. With fire in his eye he made for a certain black-eyed man, who thought at first to play a "bluff' game. The ram didn't "bluff" worth a cent, and his close proximity made the black eyed man think fast. He made a good soldier during the war, but to be charged by a rain, was a different kind of warfare. Actury upon the idea that "everything is fair in war," he took leg ball for the nearest fence, keeping just far enough ahead of hir pursuer that he could not feel his warm breath upon the seat of his pants. He finally reached his place of refuge without feeling the force of the ram's head where he earnestly expected it, and ascending to the top of the fence and looking down, saw the enemy staring him in the face. The ram backed off several steps as though he would jump through the fence, when the black eyed man stepped back an equal distance on the opposite side and said: "Old fellow, if you come through this fence to werer I am, there will be one of the biggest ram fights that was ever seen in this country."

From the Oglethorge, Ga., Echo.

One night not very long since, at a colored people's church near Lexington, one of the good brothers became so violent in his shouting that it created quite a panic among the female portion of the congregation, who, with cries of "hold him," broke for the door. The shouter continued his antics—the brethren unable to hold him—until an old sinner, a big rough African, who happened to be passing that way, and hearing pened to be passing that way, and hearing the disturbance came running in and crying, emphasizing it with an oath, "I can hold him." He grasped the enthused brother around the waist, threw him down and choked him almost to death, refusing to allow him to get up until he promised to leave quietly.

BITTER BREAD. Kind-Hearted Ludies Cust Some Loaves Upon a Sea of Suffering at Lake Geneva.

From the Chicago Times.

Geneva Lake nestles like a bird on one of the many railroads which branch out from Chicago. It is sufficiently remote "from the madding crowd" to be oblivious to "the distractions" of the city. Its people are those who have retired from the toils and the turwho have retired from the torls and the tur-moils. Those whose business does call them into the city come down leisurely, chatting and smoking, on a late train, remain a few hours and then depart, regaining their delight-ful abodes before the purple mists of evening gather about their habitations. The gentler and fairer members of the households of Geneva Lake have no cumbrous weights up-n their minds. They convenently have much their minds. They consequently have much time to enforce the golden rule, scatter the sweet perfume of charity where it is most needed, and then stroll along the banks of the lake and watch for the bread which they have cast upon the waters to come floating back to them. It must not be inferred that this is in a genuine vale of the temple, where want comes not and where the cry of the orphan is never heard. There is one man in this delightful and sequestered spot who is a persistent and determined drunkard and an unmerciful parent. He neglects his wife and requires her to keep his purse filled with cash enough to keep, his skip scaked with cash enough to keep his skin soaked. His little ones, six in humber, cry for bread while he yells on the street for more liquor. The condition of this man's family, of course, was not known very long in Geneva Lake be-fore the generous and Christian ladies "cau-cused," and adopted a scheme of relief. Mrs. Charles Buhre, Mrs. Dr. Reynolds, Mrs.

Charles Buhre, Mrs. Dr. Reynolds, Mrs. Seymour and two other ladies were the originators. They rented a cottage and deprived themselves of pin money and opera tickets so as to furnish it, store it with food, and lay by fuel. When all was ready they went in a body and took Mrs. Goodsell and her bevy away from their home of want and deprivation and ensoonced them within the pale of plenty. Then the ladies sat down to await the benediction of Him who said—but no matter about that. of Him who said—but no matter about that. They were happy; they had done their duty. Monday night, while Mrs. Buhre was detail-ing the work she and her friends had done, ing the work she and her friends had done, there was a rap at the door, and when the visitor was admitted he begged pardon for intruding. He had a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Buhre charging her with kidnapping Mrs. Goosell and her children. The lady appealed to her husband, but he was just hardhearted enough and sleepy enough to yawn, and tell her she would have to go. In the midst of much protestation, in the midst of her promises never to do anything for anyone again, she put on her wraps, and, accompanied by the "sheriff" and her husband, starts ed out. They were taken to all of the other huses where the charitable ladies lived, and similar scenes ensued at each house, and in

"But we did not kidnap her," the five ladies said in one voice. "Goodsell ordered her out of the house, and we had to take her."

"We couldn't see her starve," said one.

"And her little children—think of them," said another.

"And we've got to suffer for it," replied a fourth, as she opened her fan and used it vig-

The husbands never said a word. The sentator again dived into the cook book and shook his head. He didn't see where the law discriminated. They would have to give bonds to appear before Judge Simmons on Tuesday, and he lived six miles away. He would however, as it was now near midnight, suggest that the sherifile it them go home until good wife took her husband's arm and walked away to weep. There was no sleep in Geneva Lake that night. The next morning all of the husbands in Geneva-Lake came to Chicago. Senator Reynolds came; the lawyers came; the officials came; and none of them went home unstit the last train. When they arrived home they were met one at a time by their better-halves, who led each one away quietly, and three was not much sleep in Geneva-Lake that night. One man tried to sneak off the rear platform headed him off. These wives arouf its opinion that their husbands "put up a job" on them, but the husbands are walking their respective foors at home, asking if they can go out, only to be told:

"No, you can't go out; you were out last night. It is our night out next, and we'll make you pay for this yet."

About a year ago a topographical engineer named Rasloff came to Richmond and Alleghany railroad company's service. He had the best kind of letters of introduction from foreign ministers and other men of prominence. He secured rooms at Miss Van Lew's romantic residence. Miss Van Lew has a niece who has long resided with her, and to whom she had willed all her property. The niece is named Eliza Van Lew and is the daughter of John N. Van Lew, Miss Lizzie's brother. Rasloff had a library, which he offered to share with the pretty niece, and the books he left out for her to read treated of free love in the strongest terms. The aunt became enraged when this was discovered, and ordered Rasloff from the house. The father of the niece then obtained a warrant, in which he charged his daughter with lunary. A commission consisting of W. E. Granger, J. D. Whitehead and R. M. Toylor, neard the case and dismissed the warrant. Rasloff then swore out a similar warrant against the aunt, and another commission, consisting of Justices W.

J. Holmes, R. M. Taylor and W. H. Shields after examining the witnesses, dismissed this also. The niece has left the city and the aunt has destroyed the will in which she bequeathed the niece all her property. Public indignation runs high against Rasloff, whose doctrines are held in strong contempt here.

After forty years of trial, PERRY DAVIS' PAIN LIBERT stands unrivaled. It is safe! It acts immediately! It never fails!

Editor of the St. John (N. E.) Hows, says:
In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, etc.,
It is the most effectual remedy we know of.
No family should be without a bottle of it for a single hoar.

W. W. Sharper, Valdosta, Ga., says:
It is a panagea for all bruises and burns.
Trom P. W. Adams, Saco, Me.:
It gave me immediate relief. It is a punced for all bruises and burns.
From P. W. Adams, Saco, Me.:
It gave me immediate relief.
Lewis says:
In forty years use it never has failed me.

No family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour.

From the Cincinnati Dispatch:

We have seen is magic chects, and know it to be a good article.

From I. S. Potter, U. S. Consul at Crefeld, Rhenish Prussia:

After long years of use, I am setisfied it is positively efficient as a healing remedy for wounds, bruises, and sprains.

PERRY DAYES PAIN KILLER is not a new untried remedy. For forty years it has been in constant use; and those who have used it the languest are its best friends.

Its success is entirely because of its merit.

Every family should be we abottle ready for use. Much pain and heavy doctors bills may often be saved by prompt application of the PAIN KILLER. Unlike most medicines, it is perfectly safe even in the hands of a child. Try it once thoroughly, and it will prove its value.

Your druggest has it at 25c., 50c., and $1.00 once thoroughly, and it will prove its value. Your druggest has it at 25c., 50c., and $1.0 per bottle. PERRY DAVIS & SON, Proprietors, Providence, R. I.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 2, 1882.

THE signal service bureau report indicates for Georgia to-day, fair weather, light, variable winds, mostly southerly, stationary o higher temperature, stationary pressure.

ATLANTA's firemen made a good show yes terday and did themselves credit by the ex cellent manner in which they performed their evolutions and went through with their

No one can well object to the proposal purchase a road roller, which was made incouncil last night. The expense is heavy, but it should easily be made to pay for itself by the work on roads which is not done now.

Rome makes a good showing as a manufacturing town with its three or four new com panies recently started and more projected. There is no reason why Rome should not occupy a first-class position which, indeed, it nearly reaches now.

Georgia's gold mines are daily assuming greater importance among the industries of the state. Their extent and value though often told and related, are as yet hardly realized. Little time passes that some new dis covery is not made or some new venture for capital embarked upon. Not the least generally interesting of these new enterprises is the dredging for gold in the Chestatee

THE New York sensation of the day is the attempt on the lives of W. H. Vanderbilt and Cyrus W. Field. But little importance need amity between the races, will rejoice with us be attached to it, as the work was evidently that of a bungler, and not the work of conspirators, and the man will almost certainly be caught if the carrier to whom the parcel was given can remember from whom he took it. It is unfortunate that such things should occur, but they always will so long as men incur each other's enmity.

Mass achuserts has many paper mills, and consequently a good many cases of small-pox. The rags are a great source of infection, and no way exists of disinfecting them so that the cutters and resorts will not be exposed to the contagion. Massachusetts has, therefore, become a warm advocate of vaccination. The state and town authorities have heartily cooperated, and have succeeded in stamping the disease out in fifty places within the past six months. The process of vaccination is maintained, and there is no disposition to check it until the foul disease is fairly starved out.

EVANGELICAL heterodoxy is fast becoming popular, and it is one of the evil signs of the day; not because the broadening of special views or dogmatic theology is to be deplored; but because it shows an increasing tendency in the cleric mind to leave behind that regi men and discipline which is so necessary to the establishment of the foundation of a church. and a doctrine to hold to now as it was when St. Dunstan swore he had either pinched the nose of the devil or done nothing at all with his tongs. There must be a basis of religion for faith to be bound to or else we may throw away all landmarks and let each man be his own, church. When, therefore, such men as Mr. Miln or the last rebellious spirit, Mr. Leavitt, attempt to read out the church to which they belong as illiberal or too narrow, it is not a gra cious spectacle.

MR. CLAYTON AND THE COALITIONISTS An additional evidence of the utter hopelessness and madness of the coalition move ment in this state is furnished in the inter view with Smith Clayton, which is published in another column of THE CONSTITUTION.

More emphatic evidence against the move ment could not be had. Mr. Clayton has been an independent for seven years; he has been connected with the new movement from the first day. He has attended the caucuses and the meetings, and was put on the committee of seven. He is a man of intelligence brilliance and discernment. He, therefore understands precisely what the movemen means. It cannot be said that he retire from the movement into which he went conscientiously, because of disappointment-for he has been offered a lucrative office, which he declined.

An independent, therefore, of seven years' standing and service, he went into the alleged independent movement with enthusiasm. Having been on the inside and foremost in its councils he must know its mean ing. As he has been offered an office, which he declined, he is is not a disappointed office seeker. Thus qualified to speak and command confidence, what does he say? He affirms precisely what the Constitution predicted long ago. 1st. "That this is a move ment to negroize the state. 2d. That the few independents who are in the movement are being used as tools, witlingly or unwillingly, of a few radical office-holders, who have promised them the solid negro vote. 3d. That the ultimate meaning of the movement is to whip up an Arthur delegation to the next republican convention, and thus perpetuate by fraud and prostitution of the civil service, an administration that began with slander and assassination. Mr. Clayton makes a clean and telling analysis of the purpose of the new movement and he speaks literally excathedra. As a young man-as a Georgian-he cannot permit the use of his name any longer in connectien with such a crusade. His withdrawal leaves the party without a single member yet named who is not a candidate for office snugly esconced already in one.

UNLAWFUL CONDUCT OF NEGROES. iders will be surprised to learn the tact that on Saturday night that from one to very embarrassing form. He does not want two hundred negroes gathered at the jail of to offend the entire Pacific coast, and yet the Fulton county, many of them armed for the new bill differs in no essential particular from purpose, as they say, of preventing the negro Shields, who killed young Alex Joyner, from being mobbed.

There was not even a rumor, so far as we can hear, that anything of the kind was contemplated, and even if there was great danger of it, there is no excuse for the conduct of and intent of the treaty;" the new bill does these negroes. The colored people seem ready to throw themselves in the breach, and, in fact, seem ready to make a breach if necessary. the time comes that the lawful authorities are not able to protect the colored people from violence it will be a sad day for them. They seem ready and willing at all times to take the advice of those who are willing to lead them into difficulties. There is not a single negro who assembled at the jail on Saturday night who is not guilty before the law of a riot, and can be convicted. If any one had been killed by this unlawful assemblage the whole crowd would have been subject to indictment for murder.

We heartily indorse the action of Recorder Glenn in sentencing to the chain-gang the leaders of the negroes who gathered in riotous assemblage about the jail on last Saturday

There has never been a negro lynched in this city. There has never been the slightest danger threatening this negro. There has never been a remote possibility of his being taken from the jail. He will be tried fairly honestly and squarely, and justice will be rendered him. The gathering of these negroes, then, at the jail, in numbers and threatening attitude, was unwarranted, unprovoked and dangerous. If it had been known that they were there, armed and aggressive, the friends of Mr. Joyner might have been tempted to go to the jail, where a bloody collision would certainly have occurred.

Judge Glenn did exactly right. If he had discovered that a gang of white men had threatened the peace as these negroes did, he should have measured out to them the proper punishment. Law and order must be su preme, and the crowd of men that make the slightest aggressive movement, under the present excited state of things, should feel the law, no matter whether he is white or black. In the meantime, we predict that the firmness and promptness of Judge Glenn will have a salutary effect, and the great body of quiet negroes, who desire peace and order, and that these turbulent busy-bodies have been put where they will be quiet for awhile at

COLONEL COLE'S RESIGNATION.

The virtual completion of the East Tennes ee and Virginia line of railroads, which stretches from the northwest to the ocean on the southeast, is an evidence of what one man can do when he has devoted the best part of his life to one purpose.

Many years ago Colonel E. W. Cole, then in charge of a single line of road, which he had brought from a condition of bankruptcy to affluence and power, conceived the grand idea of building a continuous line under one management from St. Louis to the ocean at Sa annah or Brunswick, so that the products of the vast wheat and corn fields of the west might be poured through the south and find an outlet to Europe. The accomplishment of this would have brought a converse. viz: The importation of goods from Europe through the southern ports and the establishment of direct trade This would have induced active immigration into our section and would have freed the south from vassalage to New York. Just as this grand scheme was about consummated by building, purchase and consolidation. Colonel Cole was dethroned by the sale of a controlling interest in his road to an opposition line. In a long talk with the writer on the night his dispossession was accomplished he announced his purpose to give the balance of his life to the accomplishment of his grand idea in some shape or other, That very night he outlined a new system of roads by which the same object could be ac complished and the resources of the west unlocked and poured through the southern ports. This new scheme involved the possession of the East Tennessee and Virginia lines, the purchase of several connecting roads, the leasng of others, and the building of more than thousand miles of new railroad. This required millions of dollars, and would have affled the aspirations of any man less indomitable or determined than Colonel Cole. Without delay, however, he went to work ipon this new scheme, and now, in less than wo years since his former plans were shatterd, we see the last one made a perfect success. Colonel Cole, having accomplished this, voluntarily-and to the regret of his board of directors-tenders his resignation and retires to private life. While we regret as they do the loss of a man of so much usefulness and sagacity, we cannot deny Colonel Cole the right to lay off the harness he has worn so dauntlessly and so nobly. He has rounded out a self-appointed and heroic work of his life, and he has a right to rest upon his laurels. He leaves a monument that will make his name lustrous and beloved when the petty schemes of politicians or the dearly-bought glory of warriors is forgotten.

ANTI-CHINESE BILL. NO. 2. The senate by a vote of thirty-two to fifteen as passed the new Chinese bill. Thirty-one democrats, nine republicans and David Davis roted for the bill, and twenty-four republicans opposed it, including all those who were paired. The republicans who actually voted for the bill were Cameron, of Wisconsin; Chilcott, of Colorado; Hale, of Maine; Hill, of Colorado; Jones, of Nevada; Miller, of California; Miller, of New York, and Van Wyck, of Nebraska.

The bill was not materially changed in the enate. The fourteenth section of the bill. prohibiting the naturalization of the Chinese and the fifteenth section, defining Chinese laborers to be both skilled and unskilled aborers and Chinese employed in mining, were retained in the bill against the wishes the senate committee on foreign lations. The vote in each case was close but sufficient. A few amendments were however made, and this sends the bill back to the house, where its prompt passage is confidently expected by the friends of the measure. It will undoubtedly go to the president

Mr. Arthur will thus have the Chinese question before him again, and that, too in the bill he vetoed. The time of suspension has been changed from twenty to ten years but all the other features that he objected to have been retained without qualification. In his veto message he objected to the exclusion of skilled labor "as an addition to the words not help the matter a bit. this parts provision. In short, the new bill has not been framed with a view of meeting Mr. Arthur's views at all; and yet its friends are confident he will swallow his former objections rather than hand over the Pacific slope to the democrats. Altogether the situation is not a very pleasant one for Mr. Arthur. If he signs it his eastern friends will accuse him of a want of backbone; if he vetoes it the far west will be white with rage. A few days will show us what the politician-president thinks of the bill and of his veto mes ident E. W. Cole of the East Tennessee, Virgini special Lispatch to The Constitution.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Colonel E. W. Cole, presiden of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia rail oad company, tendered his peremptory resignaion to his board of directors. In accepting th esignation the board passed resolutions expressing the highest confidence in Colonel Cole, and regret ting his retiring.

General Samuel Thomas, the head of the exten on company now building the unfinished links of Fremont, Ohio, has become totally blind from the line, was chosen president; Mr. Henry Fink, present general manager of the road, was made vice resident.

The full text of Colonel Cole's letter is as follows:

NASYHVILLE, Tenn., April 15.—To the Directors East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Co—Gentlemen: After thirty years of close and laborious railroad service, I found it necessary at the honnal meeting in December last to request the board to elect a general manager for our important and extended system of railroads to relieve me from the care of details. Major Henry Fink, well known as an able and successful railroad manager, was elected to this position.

From the nature of the case, the financial and general policy for such a system of roads as ours must, to a great extent, be formulated in the New, York office and the property handled from the cenows:

must, to a great extent, be formulated in the New, York office and the property handled from the central office at Knoxville, making it, in my opinion, important for the president of our company to live in one or the other of these places, and as I do not wish to change my home from Nashville, and also feeling the need of comparative rest, and not being willing to occupy the place of president without giving the company my time and constant attention, which I can no longer do, I beg that you will acce, it this, my resignation of the office of president of your company.

Washington, April 30.—It does not seem probable from the bost advices from Virginia, that another extra session of the legislature of the state will be called for the redistricting. One of Mahone's most intimate friends said to-day that they thought it not worth while. As the districts now stood, they had four administration men in congress, two republicans and two readjusters. At the next election they expected to be able to return them again and they thought they were strong enough to elect the members at large. There was then a fighting chance to carry at least one more of the old districts which would give six administration men in the next house. This might be better than to redistrict the state, with a view to electing seven or eight, for there were always chances of slipping up on such an arrangement for various causes, and the effect of a failure would be bad in this event. A Fancy Price for New Wheat.

St. Louis, Msy 1.—There was a sale of wheat on the regular call on change to-day that will long be remembered by grain merchants in this city. The firm of S W Cobb & Co. received from Clarksville, Johnson county, Ark, 100 sacks, about 150 bushels, of new wheat that graded within a shade of No 2 red winter. It was placed on sale this morning, and its excellence attracted attention. The first bid was $1 a bushel, and it was run up spiritedly until it reached the enormous price of $1.50 per bushel. A city miller was the purchaser. Aside from the price, this is notable from the fact that it is the earliest receipt of new wheat ever known in this or any other market. The first receipt last year was on June 9, and the year before, May 20.

In the early part of the afternoon prices were generally lower. Michigan Central fell off % per cent, New York Central 1 per cent, and Denver and Rio Grande ½ per cent. Lake Shore recovered again to 100%, but only stayed at that price a very short time, when it fell again to 99. During the afternoon prices were irregular and the market closed stronger, New Jersey Central leading the advance. Transactions aggregated 250,000 shares:

The more the qu stion was discussed the more the people expressed a desire to know the outcome, and when police court opened yesterday morning a large crowd was present. Hill and Martin were first placed upon trial, and as the evidence was not conclusive as to their participancy in the affair, they were released. The remaining six, J. F. Thompson, Floyd Wood, Sam Hopgood, Henry Harris George Hampton and Allen Brown were sentence to their paying the fine. The evidence adduced at the trial was deposed by Chief Connolly, Police Commissioner Fox and Moore, the colored man referred to above. Chief Connolly testified that he had been informed of the assembly at the jail; that he had visited them and endeavored to persuade them to disband; that he had subsequently revisited the place with the force and arrested the prisoners then on trial.

VICTORY. ATLANTA, GA., March 18, 1882.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO .: Gents: I have suffered from Scrofula for about 17 years. The disease being mostly confined to my legs and ankles, my shin bones were covered with LARGE ULCERS AND ONE MASS OF ROTTEN FLESH, AND THE ODOR ALMOST UNBEARABLE. All remedies and treatments which I tried failed to do me any good. When at last I began taking S. S. S., continuing for about four months, I AM CERTAINLY WELL. I took S. S. S. under the supervision of a physician of 20 years active practice, by your order. Previously to taking S. S. S. I at times could scarcely walk about. NOW I CAN WALK ALL DAY, AND I HAVE TO THANK S. S. S. AND IT ONLY FOR MY CURE.

Yours truly,

The Colored Encampment. EDITORS CONSTITUTION: In the Macon Telegraph of Sunday I find an article on the "Colored Encampment," in which it is argued that Macon should not allow the use of its park for an encampment, for the reason that park for an encampment, for the reason that several of the companies will come from Atlanta, and may in their woollen uniforms communicate small pox. I respectfully ask that the city council of Macon will not act hastily in this matter. The small-pox is not an epidemic in Atlanta—in fact, it is a thing of the past—not a case being reported in five days.

This is the first encampment of the colored This is the first encampment of the colored military ever attempted in the state, and they have selected Macon as the most accessible point. It will bring together a large number of quiet, law-abiding men, who select Macon as a rendezvous for its accessibility and its surroundings. The meeting there will be condusive to the interest of Macon, and as a number of other companies from other states have been notified to meet in Macon on June 25th, it is too late to change the place of meeting. Moreover, by that time all of the colored. Moreover, by that time all of the colored militia who are likely to go will, in all probability, have been vaccinated.

The middle states had 23, an increase of 10 over last week; New England states 27, an increase of 10; southern states 17, an increase of 2; western states 27, a decrease of 3; California and the territories 11, the same as last week; Canada had 13; an increase of 7. In the principal trades the failures were as follows: General traders 16, grocers 13, clothers 9, liquors 8, manufacturers 8, dry goods 8, slows 6, drugs 4, hardware 3, produce and provisions 3, fancy goods 2. coal 2, furniture 2, hats 1, tobacco and cigars 1, millinery 1.

GEORGIA.

"That the object of Arthur's new party in Georgia is to get the legislature. If they should succeed, they will redistrict the state to suit themselves with a fair prospect of putting several republicans and negroes in congress from Georgia. To this end you will see in the near future many republican and negroes candidates for the legislature. The negroes and republicans will support the negroes and republicans will support the negroes and republicans. The negroes even now openly declare that they hold the balance of power in the state, and every day brings fresh indications of their determination to take the lead at the polls. They are fighting their best interests, and will probably wish before the campaign is over that they had not entered the liberal movement."

A BOMB BURSTS

IN THE CAMP OF THE INDEPEN-DEN S. Smith Clayton Removes His Name From the Sta Chamber, at the Markham House, Committee of Seven and Gives His Reasons for So Doing, Disgusted With the Whole Movement, Hearing that Mr. Smith Clayton had withdrawn from the committee of gentlemen appointed at the late Markham house conference to prepare and publish an address to the people of Georgia, a Constitution reporter caught him on the wing yesterday and asked: "Is it true that you have withdrawn from the committee?" "Yes. I have just returned from the Post Appeal office, where I left a request that my name be stricken from the names signed to the address which, as you know, is kept before the public in that paper."

Do you object to stating why you have "Not at all. I never object to giving candid reasons for any course which, I see proper to pursue. I freely confess that a decided change has come over the spirit of my dream within the past few weeks as regards the so-called liberal movement in the state. I went into that movement under a mis apprehension. I fully believed that it had for its object the formation of a new party, which would unselfishly devote itself to the great work of bringing about a more liberal political sentiment in Georgia, thus enhance great work of bringing about a more liberal political sentiment in Georgia, thus enhancing her prosperity. I took this view from the audience and became enthusiastic, applauding as rapturously as any independent democrat at my side. But being of an enquiring turn of mind I passed the glare of the footlights and have been watching the play from behind the scenes. I marked the manner in which each actor "made up." I noted the movements of every scene shifter. I talked with the property man, caucused with the prompter and behindly with the stage manager. In a erty man, caucussed with the prompter and hobnobbed with the stage manager. In a word, I saw through and through the inner like it, and so left the theater before the cur-tain fell upon the last act."

"Well, waat did you see?" "I saw enough to convince me that the po-litical fight in Georgia is fast parrowing down to bourbonism on the one hand, and negroism on the other hand. Of these two evils, I regard bourbonism the lesser. The truth is, that the republicans are fooling the independent democrats and inflaming the negroes against the whites—and all for a wicked and utterly selfish purpose. The republi-cans known as the syndicate are using the independent democrats as a lever to lift themselves and their friends into fed eral offices in Georgia. The republicans are inflaming the negroes by appointing many of their number to federal office. All this means that the federal patronage in Georgia is to be used two years hence to give Arthur a Georgia delegation to help him to another term."

workings of the whole combination. I didn't

But how! "But how?"
"Why, with the aid of the so-called liberals. Before the play is over a good many independent democrats will receive federal appointments. One has already gotten an office—Mr. Tripp, of Cartersville, who received the office of a staunch republican, Darnell, who was kicked out by Arthur. By this system of edifocacitying to independents Darnell, who was kicked out by Arthur. By this system of office-giving to independents, negroes and republicans Arthur hopes to control the liberals of Georgia in good time. Arthur is trying to make the independents think that they are leading the procession, but they are really riding abreast with the republicans, while the negroes are in advance. See Davis, Piedger, Pieasants, etc. Through such appointments nader close to on the State road. I didn't feel that I had done anything to deserve office at the liands of a republican administration, and knowing that if I accepted, the position would be labeled as the price of my future allegiance to Arthur in the state. I declined. I was much obliged all the same, though, for the placewould have paid me more than I am now recking out of journalism.

making out of journalism."
"What else did you find out behind the scenes?"
"That the object of Arthur's new party of their determination to take the lead at the polls. They are fighting their best interests, and will probably wish before the campaign is over that they had not entered the liberal movement." Do you know that the present adminisration will give this movement substantial aid(?)

"I know that Arthur told a prominent Georgia republican, to whom he has recently given an office, that he intended to do for the new party in Georgia what he has done for the new party in he has done for the new party in Virginia. It is well settled that the office-holders under Arthur's administration will be assessed to raise funds to build up this new party in Georgia. Such would not be the case unless the president thought the success of this movement would redound to the fur therance of his political fortunes. In short,

Arthur is playing for a second term, the state of Georgia is the chess-board, and he is going to use just as many black men and white men as he can in order to win a delegation.
"You don't propose to help him to do it?"
"No. sir. As a white Georgian, and a democrat, I feel that, knowing what I know, it is my duty to part company with the so-called liberals. I believe in the fullest political freedom for both white and black, but I see in this present movement in Georgia, as now conducted, an element which menaces the lives and property of the citizens of this state, and warn all par-ties concerned that any collision between factions which the near future may develop will tions which the hear future may develop will give overwhelming and, perhaps, mournful evidence to the world that the white man still rules in Georgia. I say this, too, in all friendliness to the colored man whose best in-terest, socially, politically, materially lies in resisting with his full strength the unhallowed efforts of the administration at Washington to sacrifice him in the interest of a second term.

"How do they expect to carry the state with an overwhelming white sentiment with an overwhelming white sentiment against them?"

"They count on the solid negro vote, massed by the administration, and led by white office-seekers in various parts of the state. Seeing this I became disgusted with the movement and, as a white man and a democrat, thought that my withdrawal was in order. I trust that any of my friends in Georgia who may have been misled by my position will accord me credit for conscientiousness and profit by my example. In conclusion, I beg you will state that I hereby tender my resignation as a committee of one to arrange for reduced railroad rates to the June mass meeting. I will state, also, to office-seekers throughout the state that the position of secretary of the late conference is open."

The Lucky Man Congratulated.

The announcement that ticket No. 75,414 in the March drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery had drawn the capital prize of $30,000, and that half of the ticket had been sold in Savannah created considerable excitement, and many were inclined to think that there was some mistake. We are pleased to state, however, that there was no mistake, and that the lucky person was our well-known townsman, Mr Eugene B. Philpot, of the firm of John bullivan & Co. During the day Mr. Philpot received the congratulations of numerous friends, who were rejudeed to hear of his good luck. It was a big return on the investment of $1.—Savannah News, March 16.

He sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. The next drawing will take place on May 9th.
